Many people are unhappy with where they are in life especially in the workplace. The most painful or confusing thing is that they cannot identify the problem. That creates a lot of challenges for the employer, employee as well as the customers. Companies suffer a great deal of labour unrests, high turnover, dishonesty and unproductiveness. This book will attempt to give individuals tools to identify how to be the best they can be in the workplace. Once we know the answers to these questions, we can then move on to what we call intervention strategies. This book looks at different options available for individuals at work to look at their own situations and change them for the better. Our attitudes, beliefs and health contribute a great deal to our lives and this is therefore a reminder about the power of "choice". This power is within and always available. About the author This book is the 1st edition by Nomcebiso (Cebi) Ngqinambi. Cebi is an entrepreneur, consultant and community worker. Her experience is with facilitation, community development (youth, women and individuals), material development and working with people with disabilities. She currently runs her own successful training company. Cebi holds a Dip in Speech and Hearing Therapy (University of Witwatersrand) BA Psychology & Politics (University of Witwatersrand) as well as other Developmental certificates. cebi@mweb.co.za www.milandinande.co.za
