This special issue is the result of the selection and re-submission of advanced and revised versions of papers from the workshop on "Trust in Agent Societies" (11th edition), held in Estoril (Portugal) on May 10, 2008 as part of the Autonomous Agents and Multi-Agent Systems 2008 Conference (AAMAS 2008), and organized by Rino Falcone, Suzanne Barber, Jordi Sabater-Mir, and Munindar Singh. The aim of the workshop was to bring together researchers from different fields (artificial intelligence, multi-agent systems, cognitive science, game theory, and social and organizational sciences) that could contribute to a better understanding of trust and reputation in agent societies. The workshop scope included theoretical results as well their applications in human-computer interaction and electronic commerce. It was constituted by a main session integrated with two others: the first on the formal models of trust, and the second on reputation models. In this volume we present papers from the three workshop sessions: the main session with papers on theoretical and applicative aspects of trust (from a engineering, cognitive, computational, sociological point of view); the formal model session with works in the field of applied logic and applied mathematics; the reputation models session with papers that specifically address models of reputation systems, theory-driven and empirically backed-up guidelines for designing reputation technologies, and analysis and discussion of existing reputation systems.

Elbert Lupton:

As a scholar exactly feel bored to help reading. If their teacher questioned them to go to the library as well as to make summary for some reserve, they are complained. Just small students that has reading's soul or real their hobby. They just do what the trainer want, like asked to go to the library. They go to generally there but nothing reading critically. Any students feel that reading through is not important, boring as well as can't see colorful pictures on there. Yeah, it is for being complicated. Book is very important to suit your needs. As we know that on this age, many ways to get whatever we really wish for. Likewise word says, ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore this Trust in Agent Societies: 11th International Workshop, TRUST 2008, Estoril, Portugal, May 12 -13, 2008.
