Can an evangelical Christian, a religious skeptic, a liberal thinker, and a scientifically-directed person find common ground in faith? In Bridges: Reconnecting Science and Faith, Reverend Stephen Parker builds bridges between various disciplines. To the person of faith, believing is seeing. To the person of science, seeing is believing. This book shows how the two positions can overlap and meet on a high bridge with a splendid view. It reaches into the vast expanses of interstellar space and comes back where we live, richly implanted in the planet Earth. Bridges is about bringing your mind to faith and your heart to science.
