“Clara Barton Founder of the American Red Cross” is a timely and dramatic story of a woman whose desire to alleviate suffering led to the founding of the American Red Cross. Clara Barton said of herself, “I follow the cannon,” and wherever she went she brought cheer and healing. Robert Ball’s handsome pencil drawings give the story the true feeling of the Civil War period, and are careful portraits of Clara Barton. A portion of the sales of this book will be donated to the American Red Cross. The book is companion in format to “Early American The Story of Paul Revere,” Mildred Mastin Pace’s popular biography of Paul Revere, along with seven other e-book’s that are available on Kindle and Nook.
