Brave New World of Healthcare Revisited: What Every American Needs to Know about Our Healthcare Crisis Andy Sharma, Richard D. Lamm

"[Lamm] holds a stark mirror up to an American society willing to steal from its children and bankrupt the next generation."—Senator Gary Hart

An informed and erudite look at the current state of the American healthcare system from former governor Richard D. Lamm and political economist Andy Sharma, including:

- Will the retirement of the baby boomer generation bankrupt our healthcare services?
- What does the impending healthcare reform mean for the nation?
- Does the United States still have the best healthcare system in the world?

Lamm and Sharma expose these questions and more as they address the problems existing not only in policy and professional circles, but also in public attitudes and expectations.

Richard D. Lamm is the codirector of the Institute for Public Policy Studies at the University of Denver and the former three-term governor of Colorado. A nationally recognized expert on healthcare issues, Lamm was chairman of the Pew Health Professions Commission and a public member of the Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education.

Andy Sharma is a political economist who was the recipient of the University of North Carolina–Chapel Hill Future Faculty Fellowship, and Weiss Urban Livability Fellowship, as well as the former recipient of the Carolina Population Center Fellowship with training grants from the National Institute of Aging and the National Institute for Child Health and Human Development.
